

Think of the main character from your favourite book. Write down what they are thinking, what they are saying and what they are feeling.

